

Academic Publications

Jungbu KIM

OFFICE ADDRESS

---

International University of Japan
777 Kokusai-cho, Minami Unonuma-shi, Niigata 949-7277 Japan
Office phone: +81-25-779-1541
Email: j.kim@iuj.ac.jp

EDUCATION

---

Ph.D. in Public Policy, August 2007, Georgia Institute of Technology and Georgia State University, USA
Master of Public Administration, February 2001, Seoul National University, Republic of Korea
B.A. in Political Science, February 1997, Seoul National University, Republic of Korea

RESEARCH

---

Research Interest: Public Budgeting and Financial Management, Public Research and Development Expenditures, Disaster Management, and Environmental Policy

PUBLICATION

---

Kim, J. Forthcoming. "Political decentralization, subnational political capital, and intergovernmental transfers in Korea," The American Review of Public Administration.

Kim, J. 2011. "Democratic institutions and public R&D expenditures in democratic countries," International Journal of Public Administration. 34(13), pp. 843-857.

Kim, J. 2010. "Why are some states more generous in offering R&D tax credits than others? An empirical answer," International Journal of Public Administration. 33(7), pp. 371-8.

Kim, J., Oh, S. S., and Jung, T., 2010, "Funding for disaster recovery: Tax increases or charitable donations to nonprofits?" International Journal of Public Administration, 33(3), pp. 151-159.

Kim, J., Eger, R. J., and Park, H. J., 2009, "Levels of intergovernmental revenues for local governments: A tax structural determinant," The Researcher: An Interdisciplinary Journal, 22(2), pp. 65-86.

Hepburn, V., Eger, R. J., Kim, J., and Slade, C. P., 2007, "Structuring a framework for public health performance-based budgeting: A Georgia case study," The Journal of Public Health Management and Practice, 13(2), pp. 173-179.

Kim, J., 2004, "Accountability issues in Korean non-governmental organizations: Focusing on their openness to attentive citizens," in Social Capital in Asian Sustainable Development Management: Examples and Lessons, ed. by Samiul Hasan and Mark Lyons, Nova Science Publishers, pp. 157-170.

Lee, M., and Kim, J., 2002, "A study on the determining factors of network formation among NGOs," Korean Local Government Review, 14(2), pp. 55-75.

Kim, J., and Kim, J., 2001, "A critical review of NGO studies in Korea," The Korean Journal of Public Administration 39(3), pp. 195-233.

OTHER ACADEMIC PUBLICATION

---

Ertas, N., Kim, J., Matthews, J., and Weeler, L., 2009, Creating a New Milton: Report 1. Estimated Costs and Revenues for the Proposed Milton County. A report by Fiscal Research Center, Andrew Young School of Policy Studies, Georgia State University.

Ertas, N., Kim, J., Matthews, J., and Weeler, L., 2009, Creating a New Milton: Report 6. A Comparison of County Services Provided by the Counties of Cobb, DeKalb, Fulton, and Gwinnett. A report by Fiscal Research Center, Andrew Young School of Policy Studies, Georgia State University.

Oh, S., and Kim, J., 2008, "Characteristics of R&D budget process in U.S. federal government," R&D Focus, Issue No. 5. Korean Institute of Science & Technology Evaluation & Policy.

Kim, J., 2007, Science and Politics: A Content Analysis of Politicians' Perspective. Policy Document 2007-04, Korean Science and Technology Policy Institute.